Sullivan County awarded $4M HUD Lead Hazard Reduction Demonstration Funds

Sullivan County, New Hampshire is the recipient of a second Housing and Urban Development (HUD) grant in the amount of $4 Million from HUD's Lead Hazard Reduction Demonstration program.

In their recent announcement, HUD noted that they awarded more than $420 Million to 73 states and local governments, and in New Hampshire, Sullivan County be joining the cities of Nashua, Manchester, and the New Hampshire Housing Finance Authority in efforts to continue to protect children under six from lead poisoning.

These monies will be used to identify and control lead-based paint hazards in eligible privately-owned or owner-occupied housing populations throughout the region.

It was just over four years ago today that Sullivan County became a first time recipient of $1,703,524 from HUD and used money to eliminate lead-based paint hazards for low income families.

That money was comprised of two HUD sources: $1,303,524 for lead hazards and $400,000 from the "healthy homes" program to address other health and safety deficiencies that were unrelated to lead hazards.

With the program period of 42 months, they inspected 85 houses and completed 66 units; and provided fiscal oversight for monies from other organizations to help support these efforts: JSI Research Institute, State & Local Fiscal Recovery American Rescue Plan Act, The NH Housing Loan Program, and pledges through the NH CDFA Tax Credit program from local financial institutions.

With this second grant, their goal is to: hire a program manager, contract with a certified lead inspection and risk assessor and hit the ground running to help families currently on the waiting list who have been waiting patiently to hear this good news.

The target is to make 100 housing units safe from hazards associated with lead paint. Once they get the 'green light' from HUD, they can start placing projects out to bid.

Meanwhile, if you are an interested homeowner, landlord, tenant, or contractor and would like to learn more about this program, visit the website at <https://www.sullivancountynh.gov/1236/Lead-Paint-Abatement-Healthy-Homes-Progr> or email Sharon Callum at commissioners@sullivancountynh.gov.
